(c) Underwood Underwood William Howard Taft-- Whose Head Was Not Turned By His Father s Success ILLIAM HOWARD TAFT was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, September 15, 1857. His father was a very wealthy and prominent man. Though the boy had every advantage that money and position could give him, he was no different from other boys. He was always popular with his boyhood companions. He had a sunny disposition, and hated any underhand action. Because his father had graduated from Yale, William Howard Taft looked forward to attending that university. He was going to study, and he was also going to enter into all forms of athletics. He reached Yale when he was very young, being just seventeen years of age. He was a robust lad, weighing two hundred and twenty-five pounds. When, about three hours after his arrival, he joined his classmates in the freshman rush, he soon proved that he had plenty of class spirit. At Yale he won several special prizes for his work, and was also one of the star athletes. He was the champion wrestler of the college, rowed stroke on his class crew, and was anchor in the tug-of-war. He also boxed. He was very popular with all the boys, quickly becoming one of the leaders in the university. When he was graduated from college William Howard Taft returned to his home in Cincinnati He studied in the Cincinnati Law School from which he was graduated two...
