This pdf might be well worth a study, and a lot better than other. It really is simplistic but excitement inside the fifty percent in the book. Its been printed in an exceedingly straightforward way which is just after i finished reading this ebook through which really modified me, modify the way i believe.

Grain size distribution of three samples of fine sediment in the pool. Step 3. Determine flushing flows needed to remove the sediment The equation used to calculate the shear stress on the stream bed required to move sediment is: $(1) k d G 1 c r t s p s$ where s is the shear stress required to move sediment particles of size d , G is the specific gravity $c r t p s$ of the particles, s is the unit weight of water, and k is an empirical coefficient relating the s downward force caused by the weight of the particles to the horizontal and uplift forces needed to move the particles. The logic (model) behind the equation is presented below. The (hydraulic) driving force is down slope: $2S F R d$ (2) $d p$ where F is the driving force, R is the hydraulic radius, S is the energy slope, and the other terms are d as defined above. 10 This item ships from La Vergne,TN.
