Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Local Government in Michigan and the Northwest: Read Before the American Social Science Association, September 7, 1882 Not long ago, at a college in a neighboring State, a professor proposed for debate, Resolved, That the New England town-meeting should be abolished. In a class of nearly one hundred, not ten could be found willing to discuss the subject, and only one showed a comprehension of its general bearings, - this in a New England college. So great ignorance, probably, does not prevail among those New England citizens whose duty at the polls has taught them something of the government of their town or city. Yet it is undeniable that few persons have any accurate knowledge of the local political institutions of other parts of the country than their own. For instance, in a recent conversation, a judge of acknowledged reputation for legal wisdom, in a State east of New York, a man even of legislative experience, said he was entirely unacquainted with the county government of the Empire State. A member of the supreme bench of one of the northwestern States confessed to much the same ignorance respecting Ohio. Nor is the reason for this ignorance far to seek. The importance of the subject is hardly yet realized. We seldom value or study what we share with all around us. If money for schools, for roads, or for the poor is raised in the same manner in our town and the next, in our county and beyond, we assume it is so with our State and its neighbor, with the East and the West, with Pennsylvania and Illinois, with New York and Missouri, or, if...
